Democrats and Republicans Name Candidates for November Races

Glasberg and Godfrey Are Chosen in Township

The Township Republicans have tapped Laurence Glasberg of Herrontown Road to run for Township Committee this fall, citing his business and financial expertise.

Mr. Glasberg, 47, will run against Leonard Godfrey, who will seek a second three-year term on Committee. Only a single seat on the fivemember Committee is to be contested this year.

In introducing the Republican candidate at a press conference Monday afternoon, Harry Cooke, chair of the Republican County Committee whose job it is to provide candidates, said that the background of a "hardnosed ·businessman" is what is needed on Committee.

Noting that Committee now has a mother and realtor, a former police chief/public servant and an attorney among * its Republican members, Mr. Cooke said that if Mr. Glas-

Strazza Will Face Reed In Borough Mayor Race

A political newcomer has emerged as the Republican challenger to Borough Mayor Marvin Reed in November. He is Richard Strazza, a resident of Stockton Street who has lived in the Borough for a total of 12 years.

Owner and manager of his own environmental engineering firm in South Plainfield. Mr. Strazza, 58, first moved to Princeton in 1967. He and his wife Pat, the Borough's Republican Committee chair, have three grown children.

Mayor Reed, 59, will be seeking his first full term as Mayor, having been appointed to the post last November after the death of Mayor Barbara Sigmund. A Maple Street resident, he is a retired consultant who served for many years as communications director of the New Jersey Education As-

Clerk at The Brass Horn Injured During Robbery

A 67-year-old clerk was pushed and kicked down a stairway shortly before noon Monday by a robber who then stole a cash box containing about $50 from The Brass Horn, 74 Witherspoon Street.

The victim, a resident of nearby Wiggins Street, was treated at Princeton Medical Center for a severely sprained ankle and contusions and abrasions of her face and body.

As related by Capt. Peter Hanley, a six-foot black male, about 25 years old, entered the store and spoke to the clerk about a number of items in the store. "He was in the store for some time," Capt. Hanley said.

Thinking the customer had left, the clerk, who was alone in the store, started to enter a back room when she was grabbed from behind and pushed and kicked down a flight of stairs. "She was kicked several times," said Capt. Hanley.

C-Tec Subscribers Get a Chance To Complain About Cable Service

Some 50 Princeton cable subscribers took the opportunity last Wednesday evening to have their say about C-Tec. Many complained about the service they have been receiving from the cable company, while a small but enthusiastic contingent lobbied for the return of Chicago's WGN to the programming schedule.

The public meeting, which sought comments from C-Tec subscribers, was called by the Joint Borough and Township Cable Advisory Committee. This is the group charged with evaluating whether to recommend to the two governing bodies that the C-Tec franchise be renewed.

"What happened to WGN?" asked one member of the audience. "There is particular cruelty in dealing with us sports addicts. Let us have Chicago."

There was applause. A couple wearing Cubs caps lent visual support to the plea.

One man wanted to know why the company charged $8.50 for a second outlet. Others said it was impossible to reach anyone over the weekend.

A member of the audience said he had called in March, 1988, with a complaint of poor reception. "It took until August, 1989, to solve the problem, and it took 60 phone calls."

He held a bag containing two tapes of his poor reception, and offered to show them to Tom Jones. C-Tec's administrative services manager, who was at the meeting. "I want credit. I paid 17 months for bad reception," he said.

Mr. Jones said he would call the man the following day.

One woman reeled off a list of woes: "We shouldn't pay for a shopping channel. I miss Channel 21. There is poor reception. The prices are too high compared with other areas served. The quality is poor. The service is poor and indifferent."

There were several complaints about Princeton's rates, which are the highest in New Jersey. "If they wanted to charge $60 a month, would we pay it?" asked one member of the audience. "That's how they set their rates. They're what the market will bear."

Municipalities were stripped of any power to regulate what cable companies charged when cable rates were deregulated by Congress in

"I am very concerned about the rates," said Township Committeewoman Phyllis Marchand. She was one of several elected officials from both the Borough and Town-

QEA Funds to Be Used To Moderate Township '91 Tax Rate Increase

Township taxpayers will get a reduction in the previously expected 1991 municipal tax rate, thanks to $420,092 that the Township will receive as its share of the reprogrammed Quality Education Act funds from the state.

Whether this money should be used in its entirety to reduce this year's tax rate, or whether some or all of it should be held in reserve to cushion the higher taxes that are expected next year was a matter of debate among the five members of Committee on Monday night.

Republicans Ellen F. Souter and Fred Porter wanted the entire amount applied to this year's budget to help this year's taxpayer; Democrats Phyllis Marchand and Leonard Godfrey argued for putting some of it in surplus to soften next year's rate.

Mayor Richard C. Woodbridge spoke of a 91/2-cent municipal tax rate increase

Budget Is Introduced At Last Council Meeting

The 1991 Borough municipal budget introduced at last week's Council meeting calls for a three cent increase in the municipal tax rate - from 79 cents per $100 of assessed valuation to 82 cents.

The owner of a property assessed at $100,000 would pay $30 more in municipal tax; the owner of property assessed at $150,000 would pay $45 more.

The budget totals $12,747,854. a three percent rise over the Borough's 1990 budget. One major increase is in the cost of health insurance, which is up $90,000. Garbage collection has gone down $47,000 due to recycling rebates.

Councilman Roger Martindell voted against the budget, saying that the tax rate was 4 or 5 cents too high. He added that it was a mistake to apply the entire $383,000 in QEA funds received from the State to this year's budget.

"It should be spread out over, a number of years," he said. "I don't think we can anticipate this level of State aid next year, and County taxes will go up.

Mr. Martindell added that Council's decision to cover the increase in the cost of health benefits and to set up a certain amount of money for salary increases sent the wrong message to taxpayers. "I would have also liked to take a look at the filling of the police vacancy and the reorganization of departments."

"Most employees are covered by the Policeman's Benevolent Association or the Communication Workers of America," said Councilwoman Jane Terpstra. "The few in Borough Hall who are not unionized would be the ones who would suffer. I don't think that would have been fair.

Councilwoman Lucy Mackenzie proposed that prebudget discusions be held in the Rt. 1 Widening & Bridge Replacement Projects

The New Jersey Department of Transportation has scheduled three public information centers this week to let area residents know the details of planned widening of Route 1 between Quaker Bridge Road in West Windsor and Sayre Drive in Plainsboro. The road widening also involves replacing the Dinky railroad bridge and building overpasses at Scudders Mill Road and at Alexander Road.

The first information center was held Tuesday night, as TOWN TOPICS went to press. It was held in the Plainsboro municipal court room and focused on the Scudders Mill Road overpass and Route 1 widening in that area.

The second is scheduled for this Wednesday, April 10, from 3 to 8 in the West Windsor Township court room, 271 Clarksville Road, Princeton Junction. Design plans and exhibits for the replacement of the Dinky railroad bridge and widening of this section of Route 1 will be available for the public to examine. DOT personnel will be on hand to answer

The third information center will be held this Thursday from 3 to 8, also in the West Windsor Township court room, and will focus on the Alexander Road overpass and the Route 1 widening in the vicinity of Alexander Road.

In other business, Ms. Terpused for transportation at Elm Court has been placed under the Borough insurance policy. Also, it will use the Borough's gasoline.

These measures were taken on a temporary basis while representatives of Borough Council, the Red Cross, and Crosstown 62 meet to discuss the development of a comprehensive transportation plan for seniors and the handicapped.

The arrangement with the Borough was made necessary because the County stopped providing funding and a driver for the van at the end of March.

Pedestrian Is Fondled Walking on Wiggins St.

A 32-year-old Wiggins Street resident was the victim of sexual contact last week.

As the victim was walking on Wiggins near Vandeventer around 10:40 Sunday evening, she was approached by a white male in his 40s. According to Capt. Peter Hanley, as the suspect got close, he reached out and fondled the victim's chest and then fled the scene.

The victim continued home and called police who responded to the scene but were unable to locate the suspect. He is further described as about six feet tall, 160 pounds. He has short black hair and was wearing eyeglasses.

According to Capt. Peter Hanley, Patricia Fairman became abusive toward a 44year-old female employee last Wednesday morning and spit in the employee's face before leaving the store. "It was a police.

When Ms. Fairman was stopped in her car a short distance away on Alexander Street, she stra told Council that the van became abusive toward Patrolmen Michael Bender, Daniel Brown and Chris Boutote, "She was hollering and screaming, standing in the middle of the road," said Capt. Hanley. There was, he said, no indication of any alcohol.

Ms. Fairman was later released. She is scheduled to appear in Borough court Monday.

The Week's Road Work

Assistant Borough Engineer Bob Pagan has provided this rundown of planned road work in the Borough through the end of this week and into the early part of next week.

Moore Street will be tied up with the Borough's reconstruction project. The pavement will be excavated, and there may be some road closings later this week.

New Jersey Bell will be at Stockton Street and Bayard Lane probably through Friday. No road closings are planned.

Another New Jersey Bell crew will begin work on telephone conduit lines on Nassau Street between Moore Street and Washington Road. No road closings are scheduled. The Nassau Street work is being done in anticipation of this summer's repaying of the street.

Starting Monday, Public Service Electric and Gas will begin installing mains on Hodge Road between Elm Road and Library Place.

Police have been providing extra officers for those intersections normally controlled by a traffic signal. Currently, there are four extra officers guiding the flow of traffic at the Nassau Street/Bayard Lane site.

They are paid by the contractor at a special extra-duty rate of $21 an hour set by the police contract.

"Not inexpensive," said Capt. Peter Hanley, "but considerably less than time-and-a-half."

Work on Nassau Street is supposed to end by 3:30 p.m. each day, according to State Department of Transportation

About noon on Monday, crews hit a water line, which caused water to gush up into the air. Borough Hall was without water for a period of time, said Capt. Hanley.

Two bicycles, both valued at $350, were stolen last week from Princeton University lots located in the Township. One is a 21-speed mountain bike that was locked to itself; the second is also a 21-speed mountain bike that was chained to a sign post. Police report the thief pulled the post from the ground in order to slip the lock off.

Three more bikes were taken in the Borough, two on Fri-day when a student's 12-speed Huffy model, unlocked and valued at $150, was taken from the Ivy Club on Prospect Avenue, and an $80 BMW model was taken from in front of the Burger King on Nassau Street. It was also unlocked. Police report the owner is a resident of East Windsor.

A student's 10-speed Schwinn bike, valued at $100, was stolen sometime between January 31 and Friday from the third entry of Walker Hall. The victim did not report the theft until Saturday.

Two Teenagers Charged; Stole from Seven Stores

Two North Brunswick teenagers, 14 and 15, have been charged with shoplifting at seven Borough stores.

The two were arrested shortly before 5 Sunday afternoon outside H. Gross & Co. Outfitters on Palmer Square where they had been observed stealing articles of clothing. A police investigation determined that the youths had visited six other stores in the area and had shoplifted a number of items, including cassette tapes, T-shirts, sunglasses, baseball caps and other clothing items worth a combined $149. All the stolen merchandise was recovered and returned to the stores.

The youths will be processed by the Borough juvenile officer.

Gov. Jim Florio is scheduled to speak Monday at 4:30 in Dodds Auditorium, Robertson Hall (Woodrow Wilson School), at the corner of Washington Road and Prospect Avenue. His topic is "Choices and Conse-quences in Governing New Jersey" and his appearance is sponsored by the Woodrow Wilson School.

The talk will be simulcast to an overflow audience in either the Woodrow Wilson School dining room or the lobby of Robertson Hall outside Dodds Auditorium.

Also on Monday, Vice
President Dan Quayle is scheduled to attend a Republican fund raiser at the Hyatt Regency Prince-ton. Details of his arrival and what he might speak about were not available at press time, but the Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament is planning to picket the Hyatt Regency, starting at the 5 p.m. commuter rush hour, to protest the vice president's statement in the early stages of the Gulf War that the U.S. should not rule out the use of tactical nuclear arms in the war.

International Festival Set for Sunday, April 14

The International Center at Princeton University will transform Dillon Gym on the University campus into a miniature world's fair for the annual International Festival, set for Sunday, April 14, from

The festival is a multicolored collage of music, dance, arts, crafts, films and foods of many cultures. There will be nearly 20 group per-formances, including karate demonstrations. Visitors will see displays of sandalwood carvings from India, ivory statues from Hong Kong, needlework from Rumania, weaving from Mexico, batik from Indonesia and papyrus from Egypt.

At the international snack bars, guests can sample tandoori, feijoada, tostadas, pulgadi, baklava to sushi. The theme this year is "Beyond Boundaries...One World."

Princeton students from more than 20 different countries are organizing the event with coordinators Melissa Tamada '93 of Japan and France and Ravi Srinivasan '93 of Canada.

Friends of the International Center will staff an information booth and sell UNICEF cards and plants. T-shirts picturing the flags of the world will be available from International Students at Princeton.

For further information call the International Center in Murray Dodge Hall at 258-5006.

Accused murderer Lyle Menendez has surrendered ownership of his restaurant on Spring Street.

Menendez, who is currently facing trial with his brother Erik in California, where they have been charged with the murder of their parents, purchased Chuck's Spring Street Cafe for $400,000 in January, 1990 - five months after the

Known for its chicken wings, the cafe was renamed Mr. Buffalo's by Menendez. He has not made a $110,000 payment which was due in January, according to John Argyris, who sold the cafe to Menendez. Menendez still owes about $260,000

Announcing plans to open a string of Mr. Buffalo's, Menendez installed a friend of his — Eric Tamm — as manager. When Mr. Tamm and Menendez last week asked for more time, Mr. Argyris replied "That's it. I'm going to

Mr. Tamm signed a default agreement this week, returning the cafe to Mr. Argyris.

Mr. Argyris reported that he intends to change the name back to Chuck's Spring Street Cafe and promised a revised menu. He has already started to install his own people, replacing those hired by Mr. Tamm.

Free AIDS/HIV Testing Available on April 20th

Hyacinth Foundation, an AlDS service and education organization, will offer free AIDS/HIV counseling and testing on Saturday, April 20, in Princeton.

State-certified HIV counselors will be on hand between 11 and 4 at Hyacinth's Delaware Valley Project Office at Nassau Presbyterian Church. The testing for the HIV antibody to the virus that causes AIDS can be done on a confidential or anonymous basis. This free service is available on a walk-in basis or by appointment. To make an appointment, call (908) 755-0021.

At the beginning of this year, 10,000 AIDS cases had been reported in New Jersey. New Jersey ranks fifth in the country in the number of AIDS cases and €irst in the number of women and children with the disease.

All client services are free and confidential. For more information on the Princeton testing program or Hyacinth's services, call the hotline at 1-*800-433-0254.

Farmland Preservation Aided by Corporation

Mobil has pledged $250,000 toward the public purchase of the development rights to the Niederer Farm, which is located on Titus Mill Road in Hopewell Township. The pledge was in response to Hopewell Township's request that Mobil — which has a facility in Hopewell - contribute to Mercer County's effort to preserve

If the farm is accepted into the State's easement purchase program, the Niederers would sell their right to develop the property. A permanent deed re-striction would be placed on their land, ensuring that it would never undergo nonagricultural development. The County would hold the easement, but the Niederers would continue to own the property.

"Mobil is the first corporation in New Jersey to contribute to a State farmland preservation program," said Sharon Ainsworth, associate secretary, New Jersey State Department of Agriculture.

Volunteers Needed for Home Readers Program

In observance of National Library Week, April 14-20, the Friends of Princeton Public Library plan to expand the library's services to homebound readers, both in their own homes and in area nursing homes.

Currently, the Volunteers for Home Readers program makes about 50 books available each month to the residents of Spruce Circle and Elm Court, and visits a small number of elderly or disabled readers at home on a one-to-one basis. With the goal of extending service to other homebound readers and to residents of Merwick and the Princeton Nursing Home who have expressed interest in the program, the volunteer committee of the Friends is calling attention during National Library Week to the need for more volunteers.

Volunteers will be matched with individual readers and, after an initial visit to discuss reading preferences and arrange a visiting schedule, will bring the readers' requests to the library where Barbara Silverstein of the library staff will make appropriate selections. Books, audio tapes, and records will be available for circulation.

Volunteers who prefer to work in the library are also encouraged to register during Library Week. Openings include: working on the circulation desk or in the magazine room; shelving books, answering phones, or working on the administrative files of the library. In the month of February 40 volunteers contributed 226 hours of work, freeing members of the staff for other duties.

Members of tghe Friends' volunteer committee will be at the library entrance, Wednesday through Friday, April 17-19, from 9 to noon, to answer questions about volunteering and to register both volunteers and homebound readers.

Information and applications are available at any time at the reference desk in the library or by calling Jean McDonough at 924-4279. In addition, adults who would like help in improving their reading ability may inquire at the library about the Adult Basic Reading tutoring program.

from The Ford Foundation to support the Woodrow Wilson Program in Public Policy and International Affairs. This initiative is also supported by The Rockefeller Foundation and The Philip D. Reed Founda-tion; the three foundations have now committed $9.6

million for the program.

The goal of the Program in Public Policy and International Affairs is to encourage minority students to enter careers in public policy and international service. Woodrow Wilson Fellows are provided support for summer programs during the college years and fellow-ships for graduate study at 31 participating institutions.

Promising minority students who are college juniors par-ticipate in summer institutes designed to enhance their analytical and quantitative skills in preparation for grad-uate studies. During the summer of their senior year, students are given the oppor-tunity to participate in either selected internships or intensive language study at the Paul
A. Nitze School of Advanced International Studies, The Johns
Hopkins University or the Monterey Institute of International Studies. Students may continue the summer institute to strengthen skills in math, economics and communica-

In an effort to mentor and continue supporting these students through the educational pipeline, fellowships are provided for the first year of grad-uate study by WWNFF and the second year is funded by agree-ment with the participating graduate school. Graduate school programs are normally two years in length and lead to such degrees as master of public policy, master of science in international development, or master of arts in international affairs.

During their graduate school years, students have special support programs and placement services using the network of former program participants. A limited number of two-year fellowships is available for students who choose to enroll in Ph.D. programs in international affairs.

bird-a-thon on Saturday, May nearly 11 percent over the State's mandate that 15 percent of such waste be recycled by Mercer in 1989. The percentage (25.97%) actually exceeds the workshops.

A bird-a-thon is a competitive bird count, with sponsors pledg-ing gifts based on the number of species seen. The competition is to see the most birds and to raise the most funds. In 1990, area Audubon members spotted 142 species. Chapter members hope to equal or exceed that total in 1991.

A small band of Americans founded Audubon in 1887 to end the wholesale slaughter of birds wbose high-priced feathers graced the elaborate women's hats of that day. Today, Na-tional Audubon's 500 chapters and more than half million members form the largest and most active group of Americans committed to the saving of wildlife and wild lands.

Mercer County Recycling Of Household Batteries

ment Authority has developed a program to collect and recycle household batteries and plans to implement the program next month.

Under the program, the Improvement Authority will place drop-off containers at 25 locations around Mercer County, and residents will be asked to discard their batteries at the drop-off centers rather than in their trash.

Small household batteries pose a significant environmental problem, and the program is designed to remove as many as possible from the waste stream. All dry cell, alkaline, mercuric oxide, nickel cadmium, and rechargeable batteries may be left at the dropoff locations. These locations are still being finalized and will be publicized soon.

The batteries will be collected weekly from the drop-off sites and shipped to Radiac Research Corporation in Brooklyn, where the batteries will be separated for recycling. Those that cannot be recycled will be disposed of in an environmentally sound manner.

Mercer County will continue to accept batteries at its household chemical waste cleanup days every spring and fall as well. Legislation has been introduced in Trenton that would mandate battery recycling in New Jersey and restrict the amounts of some elements that go into the manufacture of batteries.

Teach Peace Will "Zap" Residents on Tax Day

Teach Peace, a peace education group comprised of Princeton University students, faculty, staff and townspeople, will "zap" residents as they mail their tax returns. With the help of members of the Coalition for Nuclear Disarmament and other groups around the state, they will post and hand out "zaps" to taxpayers as they approach post offices to send their tax returns.

Zaps are media art in the form of flyers created by Teach Peace to raise people's awareness about issues connected with war. The tax day zaps will focus on the connections between taxes, military spending and pressing domestic issues.

Teach Peace wants to encourage residents to be aware of how their tax dollars are spent and to speak out if they do not agree with the "disproportionate" amount of money which goes to military spending compared to the amount which goes to, for example, health, housing, education and job training.

Board Is Not Averse To Stacked Parking

In reviewing the plan to permit stacked parking behind the Hilton Realty building at 194 Nassau Street to allow additional parking for employees in the building, Planning Board members neither endorsed the concept nor objected to it being implemented.

Borough Mayor Marvin Reed agreed with Henry Portner, attorney for the applicant, that parking is a problem for employees in downtown Princeton. "But it is a problem for the merchants and retail operators, and it is a problem for the residents, too," Mr. Reed said.

Mr. Portner argued that there aren't enough long term meters in the municipal parking lots that stretch from Park Street to Vandeventer Avenue, and he complained that the metering system favors retail berg is elected "we'll have a balanced Committee."

Mr. Glasberg is an officer and director of the New York City chapter of the Financial Executives Institute. He also serves on Committee for Government Liaison for that organization. He and his wife Lana have two sons, Jeff, 21, a senior at R.P.I. and Glenn, a sophomore at Syracuse. Both are graduates of Princeton High School.

In prepared remarks, Mr. Glasberg said the substantial increase in the tax burden on Township residents was his primary area of concern. He said that if elected he would work for "prudent fiscal controls," believing that it is possible to have "an outstanding community and taxes we can afford to pay" simultaneously.

Asked what kind of controls, he said he would develop the specifics during the campaign but he said he would like to see all the citizens play a role in deciding what is best for the community

Furthermore, in comparing Princeton to Lawrence and West Windsor, Ms. Kyle should have pointed out that those townships had explosive population growth in the last decade, while Princeton's population actually declined.

These facts, translated into budgetary terms, mean that Princeton did not have to add new, costly facilities or teachers, whereas the neighboring towns did have to do so. Thus one would have expected their school taxes to rise more than ours. It appears that our school board is using the large increases of neighboring towns to justify unwarranted smaller increases in our town.

The 9% increase in our school budget is almost entirely accounted for by the 9% increase in teacher compensation, making them the most highly compensated teachers in Mercer County (if not the state), even exceeding the compensation of New Jersey college professors.

It's about time that the people on the Board of Education recognize that when our local tax bill is over five significant digits to the left of the decimal point (about half of which goes to the schools), they have to do more than give us lip service about meaningless cuts in the school budget.

It is the School Board, as exemplified by the sanctimonious attitude of Ms. Kyle toward our taxes that is the "problem" — not the teachers. The only way to solve this problem is to throw the rascals out at election time, and, in the meantime, vote down the school budget to show concretely our unhappiness with the Board of Education.

Just a Quick Reminder: University Pays Taxes

To the Editor of Town Topics: At a few of the recent public budget discussions for the Princeton Regional School District, Princeton Borough and Princeton Township, some citizens have referred to the University as getting a "free ride" as far as tax payments. In fact, the University is the largest taxpayer in the Township, the second largest (after Collins Development Corp.) in the Borough with combined property tax payments of approximately $2 million. The University over the years has chosen to pay taxes on certain facilities that are entitled to exemption under state law and are treated as exempt by most other colleges and universities. Faculty, staff, and most graduate student housing is on the tax rolls. Therefore, the University pays taxes on the housing that provides students to the public school system. Any other contributions the University makes to the municipalities, such as in the area of affordable housing, are above and beyond the tax payments.

PAM HERSH Director of Community and State Affairs Princeton University

Our Bottom Line Is: Amount of Taxes Paid

To the Editor of Town Topics: My concern for school taxes turned to panic when I read Corinne Kyle's response to the prior letter of Tom Wood. Ms. Kyle describes herself as Chair of the Princeton Board of Education Business and Finance Committee, yet claims the tax rate is the "bottom line," Nonsense! The bottom line for each of us is taxes paid, the product of the tax rate and the assessed valuation, surely higher in Princeton than our neighbor municipalities for comparable homes.

STREET

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

After I2 years, I am leaving the Princeton Regional Board of Education.

I leave amid a flurry of editorials, articles and letters critical of the most recent teachers contract. The criticisms have included comments that high raises should not have been given in a recessionary environment, that although the percentage raise was lower than in other districts it was added to an already high salary scale, that it was a three-year contract when a shorter one should have been negotiated, and that other people in other jobs get 4-6% raises.

What was on the minds of School Board members who negotiated and voted for the settlement? I can't speak for my colleagues but I will speak for myself.

At the time of the negotiations, less than seven years had passed since the National Commission on Excellence in Education issued its 1983 report, "A Nation At Risk," calling for, among other things, salaries for teachers that are "professionally competitive," market-sensitive, and performance-based."
(New Jersey tenure laws make the performance-based criterion extremely difficult to enforce, although our Board has in recent years been very tough in evaluation for tenure.)

Emest Boyer and the Carnegie Foundation along with Governor Thomas Kean and the State of New Jersey, called for significantly higher salaries for teachers, and New Jersey provided a number of programs to encourage "the best and the brightest" to choose teaching as a profession. Our own blue-ribbon Princeton Long-Range Planuing Committee recognized that although "poor" teachers will be paid too much and "good" teachers will always be paid too little, "we should nonetheless be prepared to maintain a salary scale as much as 5% higher than that of comparable districts in the state.'

I confess that I admire teachers for the work they do. Knowing my own inability to communicate effectively with my own children at times, and knowing how much my children have learned from other adults who have taught them things I don't begin to understand (for example, calculus, AP biology, how to sing), I respect teachers for their pa-tience, dedication, and ability to help children learn and want to learn. I know how much time good teachers spend out of the classroom meeting with students, preparing for the next day's classes, and correcting

And I know I value education, helping children and the love of learning as highly as anything. Perhaps that explains my 12 years on the Board.

So I believed it when I read that it was time to make teachers' salaries competitive. I believed that there was a need to let young men and women entering Princeton and Rutgers and Trenton State know that if they were really competent, and if they studied for advanced degrees and if they were idealistic enough to dedicate themselves to children, they could anticipate being respected members of their communities, earning a salary high enough to support a family comfortably. Maybe not as much as a lawyer, a real estate developer, a banker, or an engineer, but enough to support a family, comfortably. And I believed that Americans and New Jerseyans generally, Princetonians in particular,

Today I guess the issue really is "when is enough, enough?" Some people clearly feel the Princeton School Board went beyond "enough." Perhaps we did. But let's look at the climate in which the contract was negoti-

Last spring, the economic picture was not rosy, but we were not in a recession. The Quality Education Act then guaranteed that we would essentially be "held harmless" for two years starting in 1991-92 both in regard to pensions and social security and spending levels. School districts all around us had settled for 10%, 11%, even 14% raises, as had districts in other parts of the state. Although our pay scale was higher than some others, our goal was to remain competitive not only in our area but in districts throughout the

Recognizing that people in private industry or other government jobs were getting lower percentage raises didn't really help; we were competing with public education and the comparable raises in that work world.

And so my own goals were for us to create a settlement that would come in at percentages lower than in surrounding districts but that would allow us to remain competitive in the state; to shape a settlement that would lead to lower settlements in the future; and, if possible, to avoid a strike which would be damaging to the education of children and to longterm school-community relationships. It was also obviously, my hope that we would reach a settlement that the community could sup-

Some of my goals were met by the final agreement. The last may not have been. And now, although asked, the teachers have declined to reopen negotiations. So, where do we go from here?

Should you vote against the budget to register your displeasure with the settlement? I don't think so. I believe that the School Board has clearly heard the taxpayers, and I think we can anticipate that future settlements will be significantly lower, a downward direction that can be seen even in the current teachers contract with its third-year drop.

The program supported by the budget is sound. A 7.5% cap on the budget is reasonable and only slightly above the increase in the cost of living. We did not apply for a cap waiver, although eligible to do so, because we felt we could make the necessary budget and pure without substantially demonstrate the adventor. cuts without substantially damaging the educational program. The Board has heard and understands the concerns of the taxpayers and is responding. We will continue to deliver an excellent educational program to the children of Princeton within the budget.

And while this process has been somewhat uncomfortable for those of us who sit on the "hot seat" of the School Board, I think it is important to thank all of you who have come to the recent series of meetings to express your opinions and have written to us and to the newspapers. Your participation in the process is crucial to it.

I have loved being a member of the Princeton Board of Education. Some of the decisions have been hard, even wrenching — closing elementary schools for example. But most of the time it has been challenging and rewarding and a true privilege.

As I leave the Board, I want to thank all of you who have been so supportive of the Princeton schools. Your contributions have helped shape education in Princeton and are highly valued by all of us. To the administrators and staff members who have worked so hard in the service of the Board, the students, and the community, we all owe a debt of thanks. And I would be shamefully remiss if I didn't mention all the Board members with whom I have had the pleasure of serving over the last 12 years. You are all remarkable, dedicated people, thoughtful, caring, and bright, and I thank you for allowing me to participate with you in Princeton's lively educational community.

Library's Spanish Event Was Very Successful

To the Editor of Town Topics: On Sunday, March 3, a record-breaking event drew between 150 and 200 people to the Library's meeting room to hear Valerie Naranjo's marimba, enjoy refrescos tipicos prepared by Mrs. Socorro Santizo, and hear Librarian Elba Barzelat-to explain in Spanish the wide variety of services and materials that the Library offers to Spanish-speaking residents of Princeton.

The program, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Princeton, was the result of a coordinated effort by Spanish-speaking Librarians Elba Barzelatto, Terri Nelson, and Elissa Pearlman and members of the Latin American Task Force and the Latin American Women's Group of Princeton. Benefit Bridge Party A Success for 25th Year

To the Editor of Town Topics: The Women's College Club of Princeton held its silver anníversary scholarshíp bridge benefit on March 18, paying tribute to Mrs. Dorothea Sjostrom, president of the club from 1967-1969, who started the benefit — putting into practice the theory that if you have to raise funds for a worthy cause, you might as well have a good time (and vice versa). This year, once again, proved the worthiness of that concept. Our heartfelt thanks go to the members of the business community who showed their interest in scholarships for women by contributing prizes. The following have won not only our gratitude but our ongoing patronage: Boutonniere by Guy, Bowhe & Peare, Forest Jewelers, Forsgate Country Club, Ernst & Young, H. Gross & Company, Historic Hopewell House, Hyatt Regency - Princeton, Jolie & Victor Hair Salon, Jordan's, Judy's Flower Shop, Kale's Garden Center, Macy's, Peterson's Nursery, Princeton Marriott, Sealfons, The Alchemist & Barrister, The Flower Basket and The Rocky Hill Inn.

Quality Not Sure Thing In Large School Budget

To the Editor, Town Topics: About fourteen months ago voters were asked to vote on a bond issue of eight million dollars to add rooms to Johnson Park School, and a few other small projects such as improvements to playing fields

Because the sum seemed so large for what was to be done, I went to the school board's first public information meeting. Outside of the board members who were there to make the presentation there were three people in attendance: my husband, myself, and one other person. The bond issue passed with a very small voter turnout. With this kind of public interest the school has been able to write its own ticket.

Voters will soon be asked to vote on a very large budget for Princeton Regional Schools. I urge all voters to look closely at the school budget and remember to vote on school board election day. The amount of money spent does not necessarily guarantee quality.

Oak Tree Planting

In an early salute to Arbor Day, generally observed on the fourth Friday of April, the Shade Tree Commission of Princeton Township has arranged for the planting at Battlefield Park of a descendant of the Mercer Oak this Friday at 1. The public is invited to the brief ceremony.

This young tree was grown from an acorn of the venerable parent still standing in the Park. Herbert Hobler and Princeton Nurseries have cooperated with county officials and members of the Commission and the Township arborist to choose and prepare

The White Oak (quercus alba) is one of the most important timber trees growing, long-lived with a broad, rounded crowo when grown in the open and wide spreading, gnarled branches. The sweet-tasting acorns are edible, and were often boiled by Indians for food.

The Mercer Oak, parent of this young White Oak is at least 300 years old. It is hoped this young tree will take hold and flourish.

The new "rhythm and blues" musical Betsey Brown nov playing at McCarter Theatre is one wonderful show, jam-packed with talent, with feeling and humor and good sense, with delightful singing and dancing, all coalesced around a good, strong human story about a real family in a real, recognizable

The spirited direction is by Emily Mann, McCarter's new-this-year Artistic Director, who collaborated with the well-known Ntozake Shange on the book.

The Brown family - mother, father, grandmother, son, nephew and two daughters in-cluding the teen-aged Betsey — happen to be African-Americans, and the play sheds some light on problems peculiar to their race, but never to the point of making it hard for sen-sitive people of any race and color to identify with and feel for them. The place is St. Louis, the time 1959

The production is a beauty: a solid, middleclass (father is a doctor) home interior, plus varied exciting street scenes convincingly conveyed by projections on curtains, all designed by David Mitchell.

Upbeat Story and Music

 Baikida Carroll's pleasant music is as upbeat as the story and so are the lyrics by Mss. Shange, Mann, and Carroll. The just-right costumes are by Jennifer von

After a rousing song-and-dance opening, the play begins with Dr. and Mrs. Brown quarreling over father's stiff insistence that their children enjoy racial equality even when it means their being bussed to a good white school, where they are snubbed and picked on, when there is an all-black school nearby.

Like all children, Betsey (engagingly played by Raquel Herring) hates the sound of parental quarreling and climbs into a front-yard tree perch to sing of her distress.

In the play's only implausible action, mother (an attractive Pamela Isaacs) leaves her good but unbending husband (a strong Tommy Hollis) and her appealing children to make a life elsewhere. Her move might have been more plausible in the feminist at-the rigid thumb of their fussy and fusty maternal grandmother (Ann Duquesnay) until father imports as housekeeper an easy-moving, Jesus-loving "woman from Arkan-sas" (Kecia Lewis-Evans), who comes close to stealing the show from Betsey with her rich, warm voice and personality and her aura of having seen the world and faced it

Her encounters with a debonair overalled gardener (Eugene Fleming) produce some of the nicest of the evening's 26 good songs.

Musical staging and choreography — the dancing is spectacular! — are by George Faison.

Daryl Waters is musical director, vocal arranger, and conductor of the small pit orchestra, which manages to be highly charged without ever drowning out the singing.

Led on by her friendship with Regina,

Betsey has one fleeting but memorable brush with the kind of tough and dangerous street life to which the now-pregnant Regina has gravitated: memorable both for Betsey, wbo is rescued by her upright boyfriend, and for the audience, which is treated to a wildly superb production number that conveys in dance and music the threatening world Betsey lives on the edge of.

Little Preaching

There is remarkably little preaching in the play about racism, but — maybe partly therefore — one feels with special poignancy the pressures put on sensitive people like the Browns by thoughtless and unimaginative whites.

The most obvious confrontational scene is between Mama — yes, she does come back — and Carrie, with the former speaking for gentility and respectability and education, and the latter for love, nurture, and common Obviously Carrie has to go. There is no suggestion of a relationship between her and Dr. Brown, but no household could tolerate both the maternal Carrie and the rather cool Jane, whose return obviously satisfies a need in her long-suffering husband.

So, in the play's saddest moment, Carrie does go. But we are consoled to know that in her brief tenure she has taught the children to understand, and deal better with, the world, themselves, and each other - and to Betsey is recommended without reservation as one of the best, most entertaining, most moving things to happen on the McCarter stage in a long time. A genuine must-see — at Princeton prices, before it becomes a New York hit. The only question is, how many times must one see it to ap-

A Drama About Money At George St. Playhouse

Greed, power and corruption are at the heart of The Root, a new play by Gary Richards that will make its debut April 12 through 28 at George Street Playhouse, New Brunswick.

Based on the axiom "money is the root of all evil," this drama focuses on one man's dream to leave his past and begin a new life. Set in an abandoned garage beneath New York's Williamsburg Bridge, The Root takes a probing look at the seductive force behind money.

Matthew Penn will direct The Root. Working with Mr. Penn are resident designers Deborah Jasien, set, Donald Holder, lights, and Barbara Forbes, costumes. Christine Terchek is production stage manager.

off-Broadway credits include Hail Scrowdyke, Comedy of Errors and Coming Attroctions; Jude Ciccolella, who recently appeared in Jersey City at Second Stage and will appear in John Sayles' upcoming film City of Hope; John Shepard, whose Broadway credits include A View from the Bridge and American Buffolo; and Jesse Moore, who received the 1987 Tony Award for his work with the San Francisco Mime Troupe.

Previews begin on Tuesday. Performance times are Tuesday through Saturday evenings at 8, and Sundays at 2 and 7. There are additional matinees on Thursdays, April 11 and 25 at 11 and Saturdays, April 20 and 27, at 2.

Tickets range from $18 to $26 with discounts available for students and senior citizens. For further information or ticket reservations, call Ticket Central at (908) 246-7469.

"The Boys Next Door" At Franklin Barn Theatre

The Boys Next Door, a comedy by Tom Griffin, will open at the Franklin Villagers Barn Theatre on Friday. Performances will continue on weekends through May 5. Originally produced at McCarter Theatre in 1986, this play went on to be performed in New York and around the country. The play is the touching and sensitive account of a young man whose job it is to monitor the daily lives of four retarded men living together as outpatients. Jack, the monitor, is portrayed by Adrian Stein. Arnold, a fuss-pot worrier with a penchant for non sequiturs, is played by Drew Militano.

Lucien, played by Alfred Nims, is severely retarded but makes the best of life by memorizing the alphabet song The cast includes Larry Spiderman. Barbershop Concert

The Princeton Chapter of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America will present its annual show at Notre Dame High School in Lawrence-ville on Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. The theme this year will be "Strike It Rich," a harmonious rendition of songs related to the gold rush in California in the mid-19th century.
In addition to nostalgic favorites sung in four-part harmony by Princeton's Garden Statesmen Chorus and member quartets, a special feature will include a visiting quartet named Broadway, a member of New York's Big Apple Chorus. The Broadway quartet was recently crowned champion of the Mid-Atlantic District in competi-tion with 25 other quartets. Tickets are $8 Friday night and $9 Saturday. A portion of the proceeds will be donated to the Institute of Logopedics in Wichita, Kan., which provides therapy for children who suffer from speech defects, as well as adults who have suffered strokes. That service project is the inspiration for a theme song of the Society, which pro-claims "We Sing That They Shall Speak."

Four Vocal Groups Set For Richardson Concert The Princeton Tigertones

will bost "Harmony: An Evening of Vocal Music" Saturday in Richardson Auditorium. Harmony features four groups that have never shared the same stage before. In addition to the Tigertones, a male a cappella singing group at Princeton, the concert will include the American Boychoir, the Yale Whiffenpoofs and the Girls' Choir of Harlem as their guests for the evening. The concert will begin at 8.

The Tigertones are in their 45th year as a Princeton singing group, and Harmony is the third in a series of vocal concerts they have presented with other groups.

The Girls Choir of Harlem, sister group to the renowned Boys Choir of Harlem, was founded in 1979. The singers range in age from 10 to 18 and the group has a dynamic and versatile repertoire.

Founded in 1937 in Columbus, Ohio, the American Boychoir, now based in Princeton, has established a worldwide reputation for musical ex-cellence. The Yale Whiffenpoofs, the lvy League's oldest a cappella singing group, bas been performing since 1909.

All seating for Harmony is reserved. Tickets are $13 in the orchestra ($8 for students) and $10 in the parterre and balcony ($6 for students.) Tickets may be purchased through the Richardson Auditorium box office, 258-5000, between 4 and 6 weekdays.

IT'S NEW To Us

Great Impressions Shop Offers College Apparel

Nothing great was ever achieved without enthusiasm, said Ralph Waldo Emerson, and that attitude is certainly a part of Tony Prisco's philoso-phy. The owner of Great Impressions, at 136 Nassau Street, is very optimistic about the opportunities for success for his college apparel.

*Princeton is an Ivy League school with a beautiful campus, and Nassau Street has a lot of potential for our store. I think there is always a niche for identity items. What makes this husiness work is that people need to he identified with something — their school, team, etc. It's why a person wears a Giant sweatshirt, etc. The key to making a successful shirt is having as much identity on that shirt as possible. For example, if you have a Looney Tunes character playing lacrosse on a Princeton shirt, that's a lot of identity!"

Great Impressions offers just that. A multitude of T-shirts, sweatshirts, nightshirts, sweat pants, shorts, jackets and hats in many designs are on dis-play. Nearly all are Princeton University-oriented. Even the lone Harvard T-shirt offers the message: "HARVARD: 'cause everyhody can't get into Princeton.

"I think we are set apart hecause we focus predominantly on clothing — although we will have glassware and other items," says Mr. Prisco.
"I believe we already have the largest collection of Princeton logo clothing in town. We have a huge selection. Also, we are in a better position to adapt to trends because we do our own manufacturing.'

In addition, Mr. Prisco does most of his own designs. Shirts for Princeton crew and Lacrosse carry his distinctive imprints, and there are also shirts for bockey, baskethall are the keys to success, he have double extra large and and hasehall. Full Range of Services From N. C. Jefferson

Every day you come across something new and different. There are always different people, hut we have also had some of the same customers from the time my father opened the business. I've also worked in houses that have had three or four different owners. The same bouse, just new faces!"

Bruce Jefferson, owner of N.C. Jefferson Plumhing & Heating, reminisces a hit about the company his father, Norton C. Jefferson, began in 1947. "My father started working with new houses and renovations, as well as service calls," he says. "Also, my mother did all the book work. She really did everything, Now the payroll is all on the computer, but Mon all on the computer, hut Mom is the back-up for the com-puter!"

When he retired, he handled the majority of the service calls. You couldn't find a better plumher. You can't replace a man like that, with all that knowledge. Even now, when people call, they often ask for Boh. He's still helping out though, as a consultant, a few days a week."

> Merrick's Trunk Show Of Young Designers

Kathryn Dianos

A Young Designers Trunk Show of summer and fall fashions will be held at Merrick's on Moore Friday and Saturday, April 19 and 20.

A trunk show enables customers to try on many samples not usually available to the public. The manufacturers hring with them a large selection of styles which can be ordered, some to measure. In order to transport this merchandise, it is packed in a trunk.

The featured designers will he Kathryn Dianos and Steven Stolman. Also present will be a manufacturers' representative, "Alhy," representating 20 lines of clothing for women.

Ms. Dianos and her hushand, George Furlan, opened their own firm 21/2 years ago. Now a $5 million dress and eveningwear company, the Dianos lahel may be seen at such stores as Bergdorf Goodman, Saks Fifth Avenue. I. Magnin, Neiman Marcus, and Martha International.

Mr. Stolman's designs are available at Saks Fifth Avenue, Barney's, Neiman Marcus, and Blooming-dale's. A 1980 graduate of Parsons School of Design, he was the recipient of the Pauline Trigere Gold Thim-to get to the service calls as soon as possible, "and we have an emergency number for people to call. Sometimes, I can give advice over the phone, hut we always answer emergency calls promptly.'

He adds that he has recently restructured charges for service calls. "I always try to he fair with the customer. We found that most service calls take under a half hour, so I lowered the charge from $50 to $35 (which includes travel time). Every additional 15 minutes is $12.50. You only pay for the time we are in the

In addition, he reports, in order to make room for new lines coming in, most of the display items in the showroom are now 25% off.

Jefferson Plumhing & Heat-

Mr. Jefferson says he tries ing has enjoyed a fine reputation over the years, and as Mr. Jefferson says, "I guess if we didn't do things right, we wouldn't have lasted this long."

The company's hours are Monday through Friday 8 to 4:30, and an answering ma-chine takes all after-hours calls. 924-3624.

> Long started against McCorristin and got behind a little bit, recalled Mansier. "His arm gave out; it was his first time around." Long left, after 31/3 in-nings, trailing 5-3. Darren Horangic came on, blanked the Iron Mikes for two innings but Jim Brophy stroked a two-out double for PHS in the first for the team's only extra-base hit but died at second. Sophomore Matt DeVeau banged out two of Princeton's five hits. Although they failed to hit, shortstop Scott Petrone, second baseman Aaron Cooper and Horangic each drove in a run.

Earlier, both PHS and Hopewell were suffering from opening-game jitters. The visiting Little Tigers jumped on HV sophomore starter Mike Kamrad for four runs in the first but lost the lead when the Bulldogs came back with three of their own in the first and two more in the second.

Sparked by a pair of two-run doubles by DH Jim Brophy and two hits each by Petrone and catcher Matt Baum, Princeton regained the lead with single runs in the fourth and fifth innings and two more in the sixth.

When Hopewell reached starter Colin Apse for two runs to cut Princeton's lead to 8-7 in the sixth, Mansier singled for Horangic. The sophomore couldn't slam the door. He walked two, allowed another hit and three runs, two of them unearned.

"We fell apart," said Man-sier. "I never felt the game was under control. Eight runs should have been enough to win." On the other side of the diamond, Stan Davis, the vet-eran HV coach starting his 19th year at the helm, was not especially happy with his team's performance, either. "You can't give up eight runs and expect to win," he said.

The difference was in the field, where PHS was guilty of four miscues to none for Hopewell. PHS stranded ten, one more than the victors.

fielder Ben Stentz was thrown out of the game when he tried to take out HV catcher Scott McQuaid in a force play at the plate in the sixth inning after PHS had loaded the bases with no outs. The ejection brings an automatic two-game suspension. PHS salvaged two runs in the inning when Brophy smack-ed his second two-out double. HV outhit PHS, 11-10, getting new season last week with a pair of 5-0 shutouts over Hopewell Valley and Nottingham. In a busy week ahead, PHS will host Lawrence High and Lawrenceville School on Thursday and Friday, both matches starting at 3:45, and it will visit Hamilton on Monday and Peddie on Tuesday.

PHS did not lose a single set in Friday's match with Hopewell. In singles play, George Khalaf, number one, defeated the Bulldogs' Jeremy Lisowski, 6-0, 6-1; Jason Cohen handed Rick Turner a loss, 6-4, 6-2, in their second singles battle, and Brent Breithaupt ripped Nathan Brown, 6-0, 6-2, at third

In doubles play, Phil Schoot paired with Dave Silberrman to defeat Hopewell's Kevin Berrisford and Say Bayard, 6-4, 6-3. Dan Wang and Mike Neu-berger stopped Mike Reger and Nelson Brown, 6-4, 6-2. In blanking Nottingham in its coach Joyce Jones wanted someone who could average five goals a game; she wanted her team this year to score a minimum of eight or nine a game. She got both in the Little Tigers' opening 9-8 win over visiting Montclair Friday.

The game was only a minute old when Elise Wilson, always pressing, always on the attack, scored the first of her six goals for the Little Tigers. The visiting Mounties, playing their third game of the season, tied it at one.

Bustamante, switched to attack from defense this year, lifted a short shot over Montclair goalie Chantale Pierre-Louis for her first goal of the season. When Montclair knotted the score again two moments later, Jones lifted starting senior goalie Joan Sullivan, who had just returned from a spring vacation the previous day, and replaced her with Michelle "Michelle was the unsung hero of the game," said Jones later. "She really wanted to play well." Sasso had toiled as a jayvee goalie all last season.

PHS will try to keep the momentum from its opening win going at the expense of Peddie. The Little Tigers will host the Falcons this Wednesday at 3:30. On Friday they will visit Morristown High in Pennsylvania,

In scoring six goals, the tireless Wilson accounted for more than half of the ten goals she netted last spring as a sophomore. She was one of the few bright spots in a disappointing 4-10-1 season. Bustamante ended with a pair and Daphne Smith accounted for Princeton's ninth goal.

Sasso saved 11 of the 19 shots taken by Montclair which was paced by Muffy Barton's three goals. The Mounties, which had defeated PHS, 8-1 and 4-3 last year, walked off the PHS field all even with a 1-1-1 record. Princeton's scheduled opener with Columbia last Tuesday will not be rescheduled, PHS athletic director Carol Parsons reported. The two teams will play each other in what was to be a rematch on May 1.

FIRST YOU DIG, THEN YOU SCORE: Princeton High's Elise Wilson tries to dig out the ball in Friday's lacrosse opener, as teammate Jennifer Zar (51) attempts to hold off a Montclair defender. Wilson scored six goals in 9-8 Little Tiger win.

As for the lopsided loss to Princeton High, Faus admitted, "To tell you the truth, I was happy to hold them to four in the first half. We don't have a lot and it is going to take us a while to get some offense going.

"I didn't keep an accurate count but I don't think we took more than nine shots the entire game; you're not going to win taking that many shots.

"But on an optimistic note, I think you're going to see a much better Hun team than the one you saw against Princeton. We need a little more time. Right now it's a coaching problem; it's up to me and Dan Smith [Faus's assistant] to get them ready because we have the talent.

Hun suffered a setback, however, when veteran senior starter Matt Burdzy - a key offensive player - was lost for the season after reinjuring an old football knee injury. "It's going to hurt us," acknowledged Faus.

Katzoff Leads PDS To 2nd in Prep Golf

After playing and winning against the best junior golfers in the country this winter, Stuart Katzoff was obviously ready for the Prep B tournament held at Law renceville last Saturday.

He needed one extra hole, but Katzoff wound up as medalist for the event, firing a 38 over the nine-hole, par-35, course. He finished in a tie with Jeff Kirshenbaum of Newark Academy after nine holes, and won on the first playoff hole. Katzoff had a bogey five on this hole, but Kirshenbaum had a double bogey.

However, the team title went to Newark, as its players took the next three places for a total score of 159. The Panthers placed second with a 172, and Dwight Englewood was third at 185. Wardlaw was fifth, 189, edging out Montclair-Kimberley by one stroke.

Totten's only shaky inning was the fifth when he allowed both Wardlaw runs.

The next day against Montclair Kimberley, junior Mike Laudenberger got credit for his first victory. David Jackson led the PDS attack, going three for four, including a double and a triple, and drove in three runs.

In the Hopewell match a week ago Tuesday, the only loss came at second doubles where Dennis DeCore and Chris Sheldon dropped a 6-4, 6-3 match. Dave Suomi had to go three sets, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3, for his first singles win, while the Wirstrom brothers, Rob and Marc, playing at second and third singles, each won in two sets. At first doubles, where Dan Ragsdale has taken up where older brother, Dave, left off, he combined with Jason Bilanin for a 6-1, 6-4 victory.

On Saturday against Pennington, Suomi lost to the Raiders' outstanding player, Don Marriott, 6-4, 6-0, but the Panthers won every other match in two sets. Sheldon and DeCore won their first of the season, 6-3, 6-1.

of the season. It was a disappointing way to close out an otherwise successful season.

Hun at 1-2 is struggling this year; it lost the heart of last year's strong team to gradua-tion. That contest will come after a game against Manasquan scheduled to be played this past Tuesday. Looking down the rest of the schedule, there isn't a single game the Panthers can't win; the key will be to keep focused in each contest. After Hun, PDS will have a game against Hills-borough on Friday.

Friday's game against ANC had Charlie Baker in action for the first time and the first ti the first time, and the PDS offense benefitted from his return. Mrs. Winton grew up in Wayzata, Minn. and attended Northrop Collegiate School in Minneapolis through the 11th grade, when her fa mily moved to San Francisco. She attended Stanford University and graduated from the University of California. She came to Princeton in the 1970s with her then husband, John Stephenson, when he was named college guidance counselor at The Hun Public Library.

During her Princeton years, she started the puppet therapy program at Princeton Medical Center with children about to undergo surgery. She also worked in the front office at TOWN TOPICS.

Divorced and remarried to McDonald Winton of Minnesota, she moved back to the Minneapolis area about 1980. She became interested in Murray Bowen's family systems theory of therapy, and started the Minnesota Institute of Family Dynamics, a national teaching and training center in family theory and therapy. She was chairperson of the Institute for several years.

Three years ago Mrs. Winton and a therapist from the Institute started Asante Video Productions. The company recently received funding to produce a 60-minute documentary on several generations of families living in the Pine Barrens. NEW COLONIAL IN PRINCETON

A EUROPEAN TWO-STORY HOME IN PRINCETON

What's the difference between European construction and American. Some say when a European builds his home, he builds it to last. And that's what we have here, an all brick home with massive stone fireplace in the living room, an expansive dining room, and eat-in kitchen with large central island and a den besides. There are 4 bedrooms in all, and beautiful views framed by architect-inspired windows. Come see quality in a friendly Princeton neighborhood $329,000

Space — so highly desired by members of a growing family and found inside and outside this handsome Colonial. Two acres in western Princeton, though professionally landscaped, have ample room for active sports in addition to a swim in the delightful pool. Inside — a family room, den, glassed-in porch, opening to a brick walled terrace, and a carpeted lower level provide extra space for indoor activities. The foyer opens to a gracious living room with fireplace, formal dining room, kitchen with charming breakfast room and lavatory. Upstairs four bedrooms and 2 baths. All in a beautiful area of wide tree lined streets and sweeping lawns with attractive houses in a pleasant variety of architecture and the choice of two retiring Governors.

NEW LISTING

For your "starter home", for your golden years or a commuter in between, this just might be the right house for you! This convenient location adjoining Sunnydale Way in West Windsor offers a short walk to the train and shopping. A woodburning stove brings cheer and warmth to the living-dining room which has double doors opening to the yard and deck. The kitchen is modern and the family room has a wall of bookshelves. Two bedrooms share the new bath. The new detached garage has an adjoining workshop. All sparkling fresh and awaiting a fortunate new owner who will appreciate the total renovation by the architect owners, as featured in the March issue of the New Jersey Monthly magazine. $179,000

SOMETHING SPECIAL — SOMEWHERE SPECIAL!

ON A PRIME PIECE OF PRINCETON PROPERTY Close in for easy access to everything the community has to offer, you will find a beautifully detailed and most luxurious up-to-date traditional residence.

This beautifully finished brick and frame house has a magnificent two-story entrance hall with sweeping curved stairway and a marble floor which leads to spacious twostory living room with doors to a walled bluestone terrace and large formal dining room with bay window -- both rooms have intricate inlayed floors. There is a handsome cherry-panelled library with beautiful bookcases, bar sink, marble-trimmed fireplace and random width cherry floor. A spectacular kitchen/family room with all the "bells and whistles" and access to both terrace and incredible oversized self-cleaning swimming pool with electronically operated cover. There is a lovely first floor bedroom with huge closets and full private bath.

Upstairs a very large master bedroom suite with walk-in closets, marble-trimmed bath, private bath and some surprisingly special extra features. This is joined by 3 other family bedrooms, each with its own private bath. On the third floor complete living quarters with yet another bath. Wired for alarms, music systems, phones, television, this luxury residence has multi-zoned heating and air conditioning, 4 fireplaces, full basement, magnificent landscaping, driveways and parking areas...so much that you must see it yourself to understand it. Offered at $1,900,000 Shown by appointment only
